Publishers' Greeting.

We have the pleasure of presenting to your notice this edition of the BLUE BOOK of Cleveland and vicinity, and would call your especial attention to several new features. First, an accurate and complete list, with the correct addresses, alphabetically arranged, of all persons who are identified with society in the City of Cleveland and Northern Ohio, from which party and calling lists may be drawn. Second, the arrangement of the same list in Cleveland, according to streets and numbers, for the special convenience of ladies in calling; and, Third, a complete list of the Social Clubs of Cleveland, with the names of officers, directors, governing committees, etc.

We have made a special effort to procure the names and addresses of the unmarried gentlemen of Cleveland who are identified with society, for the use of those who may desire to give large entertainments.

We also call attention to the seating plans of the best places of amusement and halls, which will prove very valuable for reference.

Our shopping guide will be found to contain the names of the representative business firms of Cleveland.

To our many friends who kindly assisted us in the preparation of this work, we return our thanks.

Respectfully,

THE EXANTHEMATIC METHOD OF CURE.

ALSO CALLED BAUNSCHEIDTISM.

A CERTAIN CURE FOR ALL DISEASES.

In diseases of recent origin, as well as in chronic affections which have defied all salves, medicaments and treatment, this method of cure may be confidently resorted to as the last anchor of salvation. Thousands of invalids, whom the doctors had given up as hopeless, have saved their lives and been restored to full health by means of this treatment. An account of the wonderful cures which have been brought about by this treatment, as also the necessary instructions for self-treatment for all diseases, is contained in my Book of Instruction, or Manual, 15th Edition, 350 pages. Illustrative circulars sent to any address, post-paid.

JOHN LINDEN. Special Practitioner of the Exanthematic Method of Cure.

Sterling Silver.

A true economy in buying leads to the relation of good weights; it is indeed better not to buy solid silver at all than to buy that which is too light to possess the strength to insure long service.

DIAMONDS
AND
JEWELRY

IT is within the province of a reputable house to educate as far as it is able in regard to the origin, production and quality of the various articles in which it deals. In the matter of Diamonds and Watches alone there is such a wide difference in grade and values that it is of the greatest importance to the buyer that he should know just what he is purchasing. Our many years' experience enables us to give all the information desired.

SOCIETY STATIONERY.

A visit to the work-rooms of Mess. Fenton & Stair, the society stationers and engravers, was found most interesting. The various methods employed in the production of wedding invitations, monograms, crests, anns, menu and guest cards, etc., was seen in all its detail. Skilled workmen were employed in designing, engraving, illuminating and stamping upon work of artistic worth. This firm enjoys a well merited reputation for work of the highest order, and as supplying the requirements in stationery for social uses is their exclusive business, they have exceptional advantages. All orders may be entrusted to their care with the assurance that they will be correct in form, perfect in workmanship and moderate in price. The salesroom is most complete and elegant in its appointments; a tasteful arrangement of choice goods makes, all in all, a well equipped establishment, the only one of its kind between New York and Chicago.

AKRON, OHIO,

Rolled Avena (Oats).

IN CASES, 36 PACKAGES, 2 LBS. EACH.

ALWAYS PURE. RELIABLE.

Also their Oatmeal, Rolled and Cracked Wheat, Whole Winter Wheat and W. W. Graham Flour, Hominy, White and Yellow Granulated Cornmeal.

They have recently added to their long list, a new Cereal of inestimable value to those suffering from impaired digestion.

Rich in gluten, germ, gum and dextrine, it is favorably received everywhere under the name and trade-mark

SCHUMACHER'S PARCHED FARINOSE.

For infants it may well supersede all other foods save milk, which can never find a perfect substitute during the first weeks of life, because its ready and perfect digestion involves no strain upon feeble digestive powers. It contains all the elements demanded by the growing life, and for like reasons is equally adapted for invalids. By fever patients it is used as a thin gruel and is partaken with some relish, even when genuine appetite and all craving for food are suspended. Its bland, mucilage-like qualities peculiarly adapt it to all inflammatory conditions, especially in typhoid and other states in which intestinal lesions exist which are liable to be increased by irritating food. For the Brain Worker it will be found satisfying and helpful, because of its high phosphatic qualities. For all refined, active, ardent, progressive human beings, it will prove a PERFECT FOOD, supplying all waste and restoring every exhausted energy. Added to all its excellencies, its appetizing flavor will commend it to the palates of man, woman and child alike.

Vol. 5.—No. 4. CLEVELAND, O., JUNE, 1890. 75 Cents per year. Single Copy 10 Cents.

THE GIFT OF GOOD TIME.

ONE morning in November, Maggie Clark was standing near the window of her father's store, looking out upon the busy street, when she saw a little girl, poorly clad, and with a basket on her arm, coming slowly along the opposite side of the way. She stopped in front of the store, looked in at the window, and then, as if she had made up her mind to enter, crossed the street and came in at the door.

Maggie was a kind-hearted little girl, and she had often been told by her father that she must be very polite to customers, so she went forward to meet the little girl, and asked her what she would please to buy.

"Some matches, if you please," said the child, in a timid voice.

Maggie showed her the matches, and the little girl bought a box, and then, as she was going out, she turned and said, "Please, miss, can you tell me what time it is?"

Maggie looked at the clock, and told her that it was half-past eleven.

"Thank you, miss," said the little girl, and she went out and walked slowly away.

Maggie watched her as she went down the street, and saw her stop before a window filled with pies and cakes, and look in at them for a long time. Then she walked on a little farther, and stopped before a fruit-stand, and looked at the oranges and apples and bananas. Then she went on again, and stopped before a window filled with toys, and looked in at the dolls and the sleds and the skates. Then she walked on again, and stopped before a window filled with books, and looked in at them for a long time. Then she walked on again, and stopped before a window filled with shoes, and looked in at them for a long time. Then she walked on again, and stopped before a window filled with hats, and looked in at them for a long time. Then she walked on again, and stopped before a window filled with clothing, and looked in at it for a long time. Then she walked on again, and stopped before a window filled with jewelry, and looked in at it for a long time. Then she walked on again, and stopped before a window filled with musical instruments, and looked in at them for a long time. Then she walked on again, and stopped before a window filled with furniture, and looked in at it for a long time. Then she walked on again, and stopped before a window filled with carpets, and looked in at them for a long time. Then she walked on again, and stopped before a window filled with curtains, and looked in at them for a long time. Then she walked on again, and stopped before a window filled with pictures, and looked in at them for a long time. Then she walked on again, and stopped before a window filled with books, and looked in at them for a long time. Then she walked on again, and stopped before a window filled with shoes, and looked in at them for a long time. Then she walked on again, and stopped before a window filled with hats, and looked in at them for a long time. Then she walked on again, and stopped before a window filled with clothing, and looked in at it for a long time. Then she walked on again, and stopped before a window filled with jewelry, and looked in at it for a long time. Then she walked on again, and stopped before a window filled with musical instruments, and looked in at them for a long time. Then she walked on again, and stopped before a window filled with furniture, and looked in at it for a long time. Then she walked on again, and stopped before a window filled with carpets, and looked in at them for a long time. Then she walked on again, and stopped before a window filled with curtains, and looked in at them for a long time. We can also give the most entire satisfaction in Sanitary Plumbing A most essential thing in a home.

CLEVELAND, O., April 25, 1892.

MESSRS. H. J. LUFF & BRO.

Gentlemen:—I take pleasure in certifying to the fact that the job of plumbing you constructed for me last fall was the most satisfactory in every way that I have ever had done. Recognizing the difficulties and obstacles to contend with in placing bath, closets and basins in a house built without any provision for same, to have it accomplished so satisfactorily is very gratifying.

I am, Very truly yours,

S. C. MORRIS,
Pres't Ohio Baking Co., Cleveland, O.

MESSRS. H. J. LUFF & BRO.

Gentlemen:—The "Gurney Hot Water Heater" you placed in my house last fall has given us the most complete satisfaction. It is in every way preferable to Steam or Hot Air Heating, and now, after a winter's experience with it, in my estimation it is the leading Hot Water Heater in the market. So simple to operate, and durable in construction.

We are more than pleased with it.

Very truly yours,

S. C. MORRIS,
Pres't Ohio Baking Co.,
